TEN ANSWER BOOK CIRCLES MEAN TEN PICTURES SOLVED

Are you playing the star-and-circle feature of the Booklovers' Contest

It's a lot of fun, because it tells you, out and out, ten of the correct book titles, and the ten pictures they fit. There are ten book titles in the cata-logue which have stars printed opposite them. These ten starred titles are ten of the seventy-seven correct titles! There are ten of the numbered Answer Book pages which have small circles printed on them. The ten pic-

TO REMOVE MANNIKIN FROM PUBLIC VIEW

BY LA MARQUISE DE FONTENOY.

BRUSSELS is in danger of losing its premier citizen. The latter title was conferred hundreds of years ago by the municipality of the Belgian metropolis, on the so-called Mannikin—an exquisite bronze figure, a little over two feet in height, of a small boy, which surmounts a fountain, and which represents the only son of a former Duke of Brabant, who escaped from his father's palace in but a single garment, and was found two days later by courtiers in the childlike but somewhat unconventional attitude in which he is represented in bronze.

by courtiers in the childlike but somewhat unconventional attitude in which he is represented in bronze.

Until a year ago no one had dreamt of attributing any impropriety to this wonderful work of art. But within the last few months an influential movement, headed by clergy of several denominations, has gathered strength, and, manifesting an altogether exaggerated prudery, demands the removal of the Mannikin from public view. Of course, the Mannikin has his defenders, and so his career of two-score years in India as its Governor-General, and on his return to England received the thanks of Parliament, elevation to he peerage as Lord Lawrence of the Funjaub, and a life pension of $15,000 to year. He was described in Parliament, elevation to Gourse, the Mannikin from public view. Of course, the Mannikin has his defenders, and so holed the forlorn hope in the battle of Sering apatam, under the eyes of Wellington, he wound up his career of two-score years in India as its Governor-General, and on his return to England received the thanks of Parliament, elevation to Washington, president, was not a candidate for re-election.

ALL ACCIDENTS

A. M. Kendall, shoe dealer, of Colorado City, Colo., seventy years of age, was in what appeared to be the final clutches of Bright's. The treatment was changed and in three months he wrote that he considered himself well.

He has a neighbor, a grocer, J. J. Abensham, sixty-eight years of age, who had Bright's Disease. "The best doctors he could get told him there was no help for him and advised him to settle up his accounts." Kendall tolds him about his own case and Abensham, too, recovered. In giving us these facts Kendall closes: "There are three others here who have been cured since I was."

One of the above recoverles might have been an accident, but how about all five? These people are not in league with Fulton's Renal Compound and the curability of Bright's Disease is a fact if one-tenth of the letters we have received are true.

With failure admitted by the books under the old treatment in chronic Bright's Disease, and with reports like the above from many patients on this treatment, how can any one be undecided. If you have Bright's Disease you owe it to yourself and family to try Fulton's Renal Compound before giving up.

LATE FOR BURIAL

Frank Girard Arrives From Michigan Home After Forty-Eight Hour Railway Journey. While two of his natural sons were speeding northward, unaware of the double tragedy, Frank Girard, twentyfive years old, adopted son of George Henry Girard, the well-to-do Henrico farmer who shot and killed William Wirt Perkins and then committed suicide Thursday afternoon, was rushing to Richmond to attend the funeral of his foster parent. The young man, wearied by his forty-eight-hour journey, arrived here yesterday morning too late to pay his respects to the dead. He will remain for several days with the family before returning to his home in Michigan.

John and Oscar Girard, who left

Richmond two hours after the shoot-ing on the Varina farm, were due to arrive at their destination early yes-terday morning, where telegrams announcing the sad news awaited them. It is expected that one or both will return here to look out for their in-terests in the estate of their father. The Girard family came here three years ago from Saginaw, Mich., and it is in that city that Frank Girard, the New Fall Suits arriving adopted son, new makes his home. He was legally adopted by Mr. and Mrs. Girard during his infancy, and never knew any other parents. On arriving at the age of fourteen years, he struck out for himself, and is now married and in business. He has always re-Cherry Corporation and mother, and, on reading of the affair in the papers, immediately began his journey here.

The county police have not yet con-cluded their investigation of the row that followed the burial of Wirt Per-kins Saturday afternoon. Officer John Shoemaker, who was sent to the scene of the trouble, was unable to find any of the participants, but gathered sufficient evidence to warrant a criminal prosecution. It is expected that arrests will be made to-day.
